North

September’s a pocket
of colors,odors of ash.
Leaves twisting

towards the cold lake.
When the cell phone breaks
I toss it in. It seesaws

down through purity
and refraction
forever.